Message from our Venezuelan Director, Rubén Turtulici:

Hello everyone. I've got news to tell you. I am leaving Venezuela and moving abroad because I have an opportunity to get a job in Dubai. But that doesn't mean that my work here, my ministry or the foundation's work in Venezuela is going to stop.

José Albin Andrade, who has been my right hand here, is going to continue helping those we've been helping so far. There's a lot of need here and there are still young people going to college that we want to help continue their studies. My working abroad is a chance to raise more funds for the foundation (Mustard Tree Missions/Fundamost). We still need your prayers and your donations to keep helping people because, as you are well aware, the situation here is not good. It has gotten much worse and there is a lot of need that we have to cover. So I am asking you to keep helping - to help me help José who is here in Venezuela, and to help cover the needs of many others.

Any gifts you send to Mustard Tree Missions will be sent to José to do the work of the Fundamost foundation, helping those in need.

God bless you,
Rubén Turtulici

Update January 19, 2021 - Rubén made it safely to Dubai and is getting acclimated. Please keep him in your prayers and for the favor of God in the UAE.
