

VENEZUELAN STUDENTS NEED OUR HELP

9/2920 - Rubén Turtulici

Today the Mayor of Maracaibo, Zulia, Venezuela announced that it is suspending the scholarship program at the Cecilio Acosta Catholic University, leaving 50 students without the opportunity to finish their studies.

Mustard Tree Missions and it's sister organization in Venezuela, Fundamost, have agree to pay tuition for two students, but we want to take more.

Unfortunately we don't have the funds right now.

The tuition is only $130 per semester. CAN YOU HELP US HELP THEM?

Their futures depend on it!

Every penny counts. No donation is too small and is highly appreciated. Donations may be made securely on our website via PayPal.
